Washington Elementary School

The nutrition rock show Jump with Jill has announced Washington Elementary School in Marshfield is the grand prize winner of its national dance contest. Set to the track "Nature's Candy," a Jump with Jill song about the electrifying power of choosing fruit over candy, Washington Elementary's submission trumped entries from all across the country by embellishing the original choreography with swing dancing, poodle skirts, a juggler and running through a roll paper banner featuring the school name.

Washington Elementary's grand prize winnings include a $1,000 grant and a watermelon party, including a crate of watermelons, decorations, table dressings, serving supplies, watermelon-themed teacher toolkits and student activity books, and Jump with Jill posters and CDs. The watermelon party was held May 29 after Washington Elementary's third annual Fun

Run. Watch the official winner's announcement where participating students were filmed while they were told they had won: www.jumpwithjill.com/watermelon/dance-contest-winners-announced/
